TOFIELD'S $9,000 SCHOOL IS ENTIRELY DESTROYED BY FIRE

Special to the Bulletin.

Tofield, Oct. 5.—Tofield public and high school, built seven years ago at a cost of nine thousand dollars, was totally destroyed by fire at four o'clock this morning, from an unknown cause. It was a two-story structure of brick and contained four rooms, all heated by a hot - water plant. There was an insurance of $7,500 on the building, and $1,000 on the equipment.

An effort was made to check the flames, but without avail. It was fortunate that the school was not in session at the time the fire broke out.

The accompanying illustration is a photograph of the school, with some of the scholars grouped in front, and was taken a short time ago.

LIQUOR ACT NOT

BY AUTHORITIES

A. W. Coone Says More Drunken
Men in Peace River District
Than Elsewhere

That the Alberta Liquor Act, better known as the prohibition bill, is not being enforced by the responsible authorities is the opinion of A. W. Coone, secretary of the Alberta Temperance and Prohibition League, who returned from a tour of the Peace River district and has seen more drunken men in the Peace River district in this past year than in any other part of the whole of the province in the previous year. He has also seen more drunken men in the Peace River district than anywhere else in the province. His comments on the situation: "More men are getting drunk than ever before.
I am sending my report to the justice of the peace, mounted police, the district constable, and that is also their view."

Style No. 2: A hand-woven suit in nigger brown. Wool Poplin, with side pockets attached to the all around belt; the convertible collar is faced with velvet, and the side plackets caught in by strapping of silk. Price $25

We've Another Treat In Store For Those Who Wear "Dorothy Dodd" Shoes
A Special Purchase of 700 Pairs of Those Well-Known Seconds on Sale Friday 8:30 A.M. at $2.95
Regular Values up to $12.00

WE COULDN'T get just as many pairs of them as we wanted, but the manufacturers have been generous enough to include many pairs that in regular first quality stock sell at $10.00 to $12.00!

We know from past experience that the majority of them will be sold by noon and that anywhere from 200 to 300 women will be eagerly waiting at the entrances when the store opens at 8:30 a.m. So if you want a pair of these famous high grade shoes at a mere trifle of the regular price don't let anything prevent you from being here promptly at this hour.

We have explained so many times how we come to secure these shoes and just what is meant by "seconds" that we scarcely think it necessary to do so again. For the benefit of newcomers to the city we will state briefly, however, that these shoes have been branded "seconds" simply because they show some slight imperfections or blemish in the "making" that in the manufacturer's opinion doesn't justify the "Dorothy Dodd" trade mark, nevertheless the quality is there.

In view of the fact that there are fifty or more styles in button and lace it's impossible to go into any detail. The leathers, however, include patent, velv. kid, gummated, dull kid and bright kid. Leathers in almost any style, color or pattern can be had in seconds. African brown, brown, grey, tan, black, navy, white, etc. All styles have leather soles with state toes and heels. All widths AA to EE, and all sizes 6 to 8. Regularly $5.50 to $12.00. On Sale Friday 8:30 a.m.

Don't go away disappointed if you don't get a pair to suit you the first hour. They'll possibly be available later after we make the first collection from customers who have been deciding between two or three pairs. No phone orders.

We are also including in this special some broken lines in "Dorothy Dodd," "Walk-Over" and other high grade makes regularly $5.00 to $6.00 for $2.95.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1916

Hon. Robert Rogers' editorial brigade continue to "strafe" Judge Galt, thus showing that, like the Huns, they see the finish coming and don't know what to do about it.

Industrious guessers are now confronted with the question, which will come first; the end of the Hun's capture of Villa, or the return of the last lost remnant of Shackleton's Antarctic expedition.

The equally lets speak louder than Hunny Colonels who tell us that the war is over but for the lapse of time. Time is with us, if we keep up the fight. But Germans still manage to fill up the gaps in its ranks sometimes it can do the same in the Alps. The Hun must be kept filled, to and a plentiful supply of men in reserve for emergencies and to take advantage of new developments. Recruits were never more necessary than now.

Canadian high tariff papers are busy instructing the people of Great Britain to abandon their liberty of trade and erect a tariff wall to prevent themselves getting what they want where they can get it cheapest. Also to be sure and leave a gap in the barriers through which Canadian and other colonial products can pass without having to pay duty. In fact, if this campaign is successful it would have the merit of consistency if the farmer in Great Britain is a victim. British manufacturers goods to Canada, and the Canadian return for the privilege of sending Canadian farm products into Britain free of duty. Otherwise the proposal is one-sided, and is based on the assumption that the farmer in Great Britain is a victim. British manufacturers' industry would be benefited by the exclusion of foreign manufactured goods, British agriculture would equally benefit from the exclusion of foreign manufactured products. To advocate a British tariff against foreign manufactured goods is also to invite a British tariff against foreign—including Canadian—farm products.

One can suppose that the Canadian manufacturer is prepared to exchange free entry for British manufactured goods into Canada for free entry of Canadian farm products into a tariffed Britain. No chance! Our national friends want one. Britain adopt a tariff not for Britain's benefit, but for their own. Nothing could so consolidate the grip of the protected interests upon the people of Canada as the proposal of Britain, coming from a half century's experience of free trade to "save itself" by a protective tariff. And to secure the reflex influence of the spectacle, the votes of Canadian and the Canadian protected interests are equally willing to invite the agricultural interests of Great Britain to elanor for a tariff against foreign manufactured Canadian—farm products, which is precisely what the papers representing the aims of the Canadian protected interests are doing.

Zeppelin raids are defended as having military objective, because they compel Great Britain to keep large numbers of men and guns in England who might otherwise be at the front. If the defense is good it is equally good as justifying air raids on German cities.

The Villistas have murdered two British subjects. Two years three years ago, when Benten was killed, the United States undertook to look after the safety of British subjects in the outlaw republic, but the wretched waiting policy does not seem to be doing any better than that might have been expected from it. Just now the British Empire is pretty busy, and the Mexican bandit chief doubt calculates the time when the "unfortunate individuals" will impunity. But if British citizenship still means what it has meant there is a day of retribution coming for him which will permanently relieve Washington of any further worry as to where his whereabouts.

President Wilson says the United States should treat Mexico as it would want Mexico to treat the United States if conditions were reversed. He means what he says as a peaceful and well meaning citizen of the United States, think about it if a great, populous and wealthy Mexico stood idly by while his country was over-run by bandits. His family drove off his cattle, burned his house and chased him into the mountains and deserts for refuge—and did that year after year to as many of his unfriendly fellow-citizens as they chose—there are such despicable and well-meaning people in Mexico or there are not. If, there are, they constitute the element in the population whose sufferings demand relief of the Hun, their neighbors. If there are not, the President's talk of establishing responsible government in Mexico is merely theorizing in defiance of facts.

On the last eighth of the nine Canadian provinces to prohibit the sale of liquor by retail. Following is a list of the last dates on which it was or will be lawful to sell liquor by retail in the various provinces, as far as known to date, 1916: Saskatchewan, June 30th, 1916; 1915; Manitoba, May 31st, 1916; Nova Scotia, June 29th, 1916; Alberta, June 30th, 1916; Ontario, September 1st, 1916; New Brunswick, October 30th, 1917; British Columbia, June 30th, 1917; in Quebec, 975 out of 1153 municipalities are under local option. In the Yukon territory, prohibition was voted on a few weeks ago, the vote being a majority in favor, and the first of the municipalities to do so, Quebec, the Yukon territory, are therefore the only parts of Canada in which bars will be open after June 30th next. Wherever liquor is sold by retail, the law has been submitted to popular vote, the verdict has been decisive, in some cases overwhelming, in favor of stopping the traffic. The next logical step is for the Dominion to stop the sale of liquor and issue a禁酒令.

The provinces have done what they can to end the business. It is up to the Dominion to finish.

Canadian high tariff papers are busy instructing the people of Great Britain to abandon their liberty of trade and erect a tariff wall to prevent themselves getting what they want where they can get it cheapest. Also to be sure and leave a gap in the barriers through which Canadian and other colonial products can pass without having to pay duty. In fact, if this campaign is successful it would have the merit of consistency if the farmer in Great Britain is a victim. British manufacturers goods to Canada, and the Canadian return for the privilege of sending Canadian farm products into Britain free of duty. British manufacturers' industry would be benefited by the exclusion of foreign manufactured goods, British agriculture would equally benefit from the exclusion of foreign manufactured products.

To advocate a British tariff against foreign manufactured goods is also to invite a British tariff against foreign—including Canadian—farm products.

ANSWERS

This department does not pretend to be infallible. It will endeavor, however, to answer questions sent to it in the best way possible, in the best of its ability respecting the subject matter of the question, and will be of service to the inquirer more than the name and address of the author of the question. The information is not wanted for publication, but is of value to the author of the question.

Study of Spanish.

To the Bulletin: I wish to study the name of a good little book on this subject for a beginner.

READER.—
Mrs. Martin, 1015 - 10th Avenue,
Self-taught from any good bookseller.

Curing Skins.

Can you give me the formula and directions for curing a coyote skin?

A. L. Vermillion.

Home-tanned skins are generally not made to last as long as those that are not made to the spoiling of the skin. Your best plan would be to send your skins to a tanner. In the study of the books one can ascertain what the best tanning process is. There are many tanneries in the United States that publish on tanning and curing.

Books on Herbs.

To the Bulletin: Can you or any of your readers tell me if it is safe to smoke any of the following, parsnip and rhubarb wines, and burdock root? I have a tincture of burdock root dealing with herbs for medicinal purposes.

OLD TIME READERS.

There have been a number of inquiries in this column on various topics regarding the making of rhubarb and other root wine. In order to give you the best information, I will refer you to obtain full information, that you may be able to get from the reference books in the Edmonton public library, where there is a book of recipes giving the required directions for herbal concoctions.

He would have been content to do something else at the original price.

Something Wrong.

Citizen:

Robert Rogers' explanation as to why a certain building contract was not let is not a reasonable one. It was not for the fact that the contractor was not experienced. Mr. Rogers says the price was raised because the department knew that the contractor was not experienced. At the old figure, the contractor says he would have been content to do something else. He would have been content to do something else at the original price.
